

My book review on 'The Adventures of the Wishing Chair' by Enid Blyton

The book is about a boy named Peter and a girl named Mollie. They went to a shop to buy their mum a birthday present. The short, angry goblin, that was the shopkeeper, looked for a receipt to the children. Suddenly, a wizard appeared and shouted at the goblin for opening the boxes. The wizard locked Mollie and Peter in the shop for coming in. Mollie and Peter wished that they could go home safely. Then something amazing happened, the chair that they were sitting on took them home.

After a few days, the children curiously asked the chair where they should go. Mollie and Peter sat in the chair and it flew to a giant castle where lived a giant. They saw a giant angrily asking maths questions to a small pixie. The pixie didn't know the answer to the questions so Mollie and Peter came and said the answer. The giant immediately made the children his servants and he put the pixie in a tower. How can they save the little pixie? Can they even save the pixie?

In my opinion, the book was great because there were lots of exciting adventures. I would recommend it to people who like books with adventures and mythical creatures.
